

GRAY DAWES' CHAIRMAN RECOGNISES LONG SERVING EMPLOYEE

Colchester, England – 16 June 2011

Gray Dawes Travel, one of the UK's leading independent business travel management companies, has today recognised the long service of one of its employees, Jemma Bartholomew, who has completed 20 years' continuous service with Gray Dawes.

Lord Inchcape, Chairman of Gray Dawes Travel presented Jemma with a commemorative certificate at the company's board meeting today and thanked her for her valuable contribution and loyalty to the company.

"Jemma has provided outstanding service to Gray Dawes and we are very proud of her achievement," announced Lord Inchcape.

"Gray Dawes benefits from excellent staff retention levels. Sixty percent of our employees have been with the company for over five years. We see this as a great asset to the company. It not only demonstrates that people enjoy working for Gray Dawes, but also ensures that our customers benefit from service continuity. Success in our business is all about building relationships and delivering a quality service and that's what we do very well," added Lord Inchcape.
